→ On Hold Marketing

The hold and transfer buttons are the most used features of telephone systems, so why not make them work for you. A professionally recorded marketing on hold message can:

- Increase sales and cross sell new products and services
- Improve brand and product awareness
- Increase customer retention and loyalty
- Point callers to your website and increase traffic

A Useful Tool

www.twiddla.com

If you need to work on a document, picture or webpage, but your colleagues are in another location and you don't have time for emailing the thing back and forth? Log on to Twiddla and all of you can see and discuss it as you doodle on it, mark it up and change it - it's like having a conference call where everyone is working on the same notepad. This online collaboration tool is ridiculously easy to use, works with any browser and, best of all, is completely free.
